Are you passionate about the game of fastpitch softball? Have you coached or played several years and want to give that passion to the next generation of softball players? Do you care about the proper development of youth, not only as softball players but as individuals and leaders in their respective communities? Then contact Joe Birchfield, Knoxville Explosion Fastpitch Organization Chief about becoming a Knoxville Explosion Coach! We offer an organization-paid Positive Coaching Double Goal Coach certification, a written player development program, many types of specialized equipment for use and access to state of the art computer softball programs that will hone your coaching skills to a fine edge and more importantly, transfer that knowledge to the players you coach. The best part is all of this is FREE! We are always looking for great coaches to help support our long-established successful player developmental program! Opportunities exist from player ages 7 to 18. You must be able to pass a NCSI background check and be able to complete the online PCA certification. All coaches in our organization are volunteer (non-paid) which means drastically reduced team fees for our families. The sole focus for our organization is on the proper development of our players, on and off of the field. Contact Joe Birchfield at (865) 363-0728 or email me at birchfieldj@earthlink.net for an interview and coaching opportunities!
